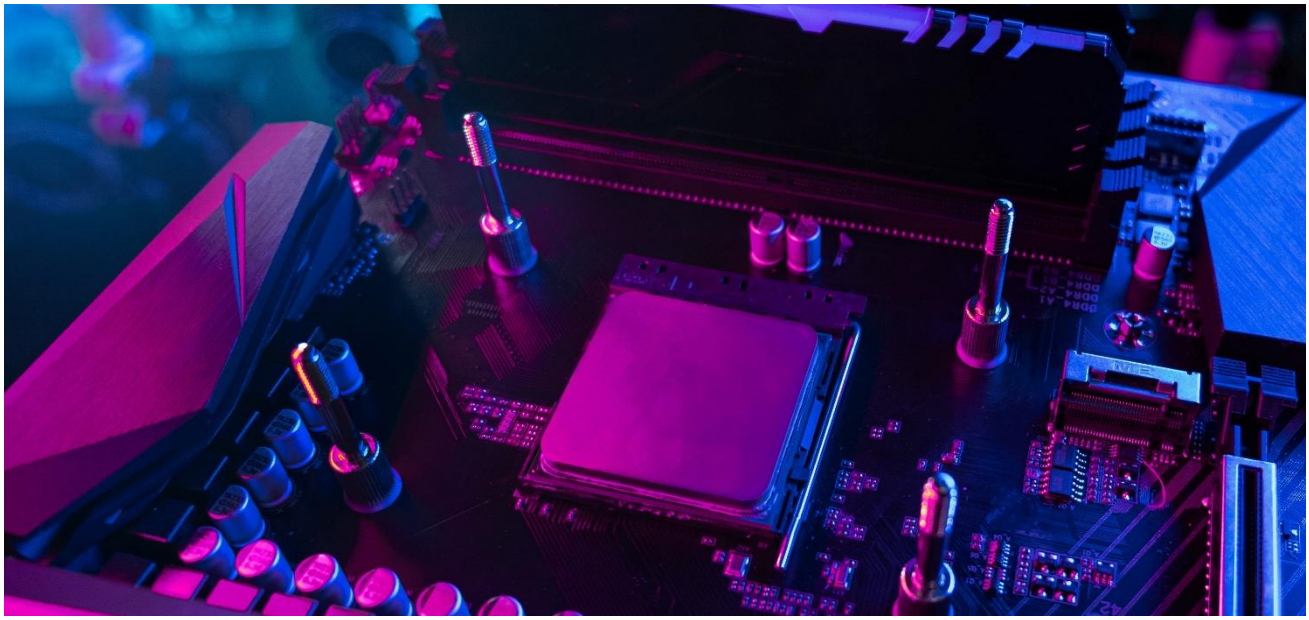
PRESS RELEASE

Two trade fairs, one strong statement

HANZA BMK at embedded world 2026 and all about automation 2026



Augsburg, February 4, 2026 – HANZA BMK, formed from the merger of the electronics service provider BMK and the Swedish HANZA AB, celebrates its first appearance as part of Europe's largest listed contract manufacturer in the field of electronics and mechanics.

The company will be exhibiting at two major industry events simultaneously:
embedded world 2026 in Nuremberg and all about automation 2026 in Friedrichshafen.

At the trade fair booths, visitors will experience the latest technologies and services in fast prototyping and electronics development – live and up close. They will also learn how HANZA BMK combines concentrated expertise to create real added value. With competencies in electronics manufacturing, sheet metal mechanics, heavy mechanics, cable assembly, machining and system integration, the company now offers holistic manufacturing solutions for the industry of tomorrow – innovative, flexible, and future-oriented.

Details on the trade fair appearances:

- embedded world 2026: HANZA BMK will showcase its fast-prototyping service BMKyourproto for demanding electronics projects – including an interactive online portal that makes the journey from concept to finished prototype even more efficient. In addition, the company will present engineering services for forward-looking embedded system architectures and customized solutions.

- all about automation 2026:
  With BMKyourproto, the focus is on fast and flexible prototyping solutions that turn automation projects into reality in record time – supported by the BMKyourproto portal for even faster project completion.

“Participating in both trade fairs underscores our commitment to acting as a strong electronics partner for digital transformation and intelligent automation” says Matthias Berka, head of the business unit Prototyping.

Event information:

- embedded world 2026: March 10–12, NürnbergMesse, Hall 3, Booth 3-375
- all about automation 2026: March 10–11, Messe Friedrichshafen, Hall B2, Booth B2-544
