

HANZA BMK at electronica 2026 – Manufacturing made easy!

HANZA BMK will make its first appearance at electronica 2026 in Munich as part of the HANZA Group, demonstrating how customers can benefit from a holistic manufacturing approach. Under the motto "Manufacturing made easy", the company will showcase its expanded service portfolio and illustrate how the combination of electronics, mechanics, and assembly simplifies industrial value creation.

Visitors can find HANZA BMK from 10 to 13 November 2026 at electronica in Hall A1, Booth 443. The company will present its comprehensive range of EMS services, covering everything from development and prototyping to series production, as well as logistics and lifecycle services for demanding electronics projects.

Following the merger of BMK and HANZA, a unique manufacturing ecosystem has been created across Europe. Customers benefit from a European production network comprising more than 30 facilities, combined with integrated expertise spanning the entire value chain. Electronics, mechanics, sheet metals, wire harnesses, assembly services, and supply chain management are seamlessly connected. The result is greater efficiency, fewer interfaces, shorter lead times, and increased flexibility in the execution of complex industrial projects.

"Electronica is the ideal platform for us to engage with customers and prospects about the future of modern manufacturing," says Dr. Markus Ernst, Managing Director of HANZA BMK. "Combined with the capabilities of the HANZA Group, we can now act as a one-stop manufacturing partner, providing end-to-end solutions that go far beyond traditional EMS services and enable comprehensive production outsourcing."
